CAPITAL, - - - $1,000,000

The prudent investment, as well as the safe management of funds, are ever present necessities for the encouragement of thrift and industry, by preserving their fruits.

It is easier to get than to hold. Often those who are in the way of accumulating have difficulty in disposing of the results to the greatest advantage. The Indiana Trust Company offers wide facilities to the best investment of all kinds of property. It receives deposits of money in any sums, for time specified, and pays interest thereon. It gets the safest returns from all kinds of property by placing them in channels of investment best suited to them. The liabilities of its stockholders -added to its capital-make a sum of $2,000,000 pledged for the faithful discharge of its trusts.

Prime mercantile paper, 8@12 per cent, Sterling exchange was weak, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.801/2@ 4.81% for sixty days, and $4.86@4.86% for demand; commercial bills, $4.78 2 @ 1.8414.

Silver certificates were dull and closed at 76c. Bar silver closed at 75% o per ounce; Mexican dollars at 59%c. At London bar silver closed at 34%d.

The New York stock market was extremely dull throughout the day. The transactions dwindled down to an unusually small total, and very little disposition to trade was manifested in any direction. The room operators were bearishly inclined, and with the aid of rumors that the General Electric Company was about to be placed in the bands of receivers and the circulation of stories affecting the solvency of a Wall street firm, managed to depress the general list is to 24 per cent. Chicago Gas led the downward movement, it having been said that some of the insiders are in favor of passing the dividend. The stock sold down from 50% to 48%. The lowest quotations of the day were touched shortly before the close, notwithstanding the fact that the unfavorable rumors referred to failed to materialize. The decline had little significance, owing to the paucity

The decline in the premium on currency and gold and the further decline in sterling exchange exerted only a passing influence, for the reason that Wall street is looking only to the repeal of the Sherman silver law for relief. Final transactions were at a recovery of 18 to 12 from the lowest, and speculation left off steadier in tone.

The dealings in railroad bonds, while heavy, were confined principally to the Northern Pacific and kindred issues. Total sales, $1,137,000, of which $1,115,000 were in Northern Pacific consol fives and limas, California, 5c | 15. $392,000 Chicago & Northern Pacific firsts. The heavy selling of these issues in the early trading was attributed to the advertised sale at auction of certain of the company's securities piedged for loans and the announcement that the receivhad applied for authority to issue certificates to protect these loans and to preserve the roperty intact. The saies outside of Northern Pacific system bonds were $349,000. Northern l'acific consol fives fell 24, to 244 @254; Chicago & Northern Pacific firsts declined 24, to 35%, and Northern Pacific regular firsts 2%, to 96; Wheeling & Lake Erie improvement fives rose 3, to 95; Central Ohio firsts brought 98, against 104 the last sale. Government bonds were steady. State bonds were dull. Closing quotations were:

LUCAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

Better Feeling Manifested in Trade Circles, with Prices in the Main Ru ing Steady. On the wholesale streets the situation is brightening, trade is increasing, and collections are easier, and the hope is that this is the beginning of the old-time business volume. In dry goods prices are firmer, and the same remark will apply to groceries. Most of the wholesale houses have more traveling salesmen out than for weeks, and they report a more cheerful condition of things. Receipts of fruits and vegetables are large, and on some lines lower prices are indicated. Still there is much complaint that so large a per cent. of the receipts are inferior stock. The local grain market shows some life. Receipts are moderate, and prices from day to day varying but little. Track bids yesterday ruled as follows:

WHEAT PREMIUM LOWERED

In Addition to That the Price of the September Future Went Off 3-4c.

General Impression That Premium for December Would Widen to 10c Received a Body Blow and Fell Back to 7c.

TRADING AT CHICAGO.

Provisions Dragged on the Announcement of 40,000 Hogs Received. CHICAGO, Aug. 23.-The principal feature in wheat, to-day, besides a decline of 4c in its price, was the narrowing of the spread between September and December from 7%c down to 7c. There has been an impression abroad that December wheat would command a premium of 10c per bushel, under which numerous spreads have been made in anticipation. When a weakening in the premium began to threaten the spreaders to-day they made haste to reverse their trades, and a 4c reduction in the premium was the result. Corn was weak on anticipation of heavier receipts, and closed %c under last night's quotations. There was no interest in provisions. The latter are at present regarded as a useful adjunct to Armour & Co.'s cash trade, but otherwise apparently of no use to anyone.

The weakness in wheat was attributed to very small clearances and not altogether favorable cable advices. There was also some liquidation by weary longs, and alto-gether a dull and heavy feeling prevailed. Local receipts are small, but in Northwest they were larger, indications that the new crop will soon commence to move. The reasons given for the narrowing of the premium between September and December are that there is more money being placed to carry the wheat, the statement by some of the bankers there will be no difficulty in carrying September deliveries September and putting it out again for December. The Department of Agriculture reported that the crop of India was 60,000,000 bushels larger than last year. The opening was about 4 went off %c, advanced &@ so for September and %c for December, then eased off 4@ %c for September and 14c for the December futures, Leid steady and the closing was 18@ 4c from the bottom.

Corn was fairly steady until the estimated receipts for to-morrow were made. These, though not extraordinarily large, were sufficiently over the recent average to have considerable effect on a market which stood in need of something to sup-In oats the demand was light, though after prices had declined 4 @ 40, the bidding increased slightly. The close was weak at nearly the lowest point, with a net loss of 4 @ 4c. Under the influence of receipts of 40,000 hogs at the yards, the provision trade dragged. Late in the session Armour put brokers in the market to bid for pork and ribs, and the decline was soon overcome by the support thus afforded it. Lard did not appear to appeal to Mr. Armour's sympathies. Compared with last night, pork is up 250 and ribs .05c, while lard is .1240 Estimated receipts for to-morrew are: Wheat, 100 cars; corn. 465 cars; oats, 260 cars; hogs, 20,000. Freights steadier, but demand only fair, The lines asked higher rates to Buffalo, but the going rate was 14c for wheat and le for corn. The Kingston rate was 24c for wheat and 24c for corn. The leading futures ranged as fol-

Dry Goods, NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The dry-goods market discloses no positively new feature. The demand is wider than a week ago, but is still limited to the actual wants of the moment. Agent cannot sell a packag emore than is thus called for, and as a rule the call is for from one to three packages. Novelties in dress goods have some special attention, but with a wider interest at present in brown cottons, which are evidently undergoing steady consumption. Bleached cottons are inactive but in fair shape, and there is a moderate business in prints. Colored cottons are quiet, as are cotton flannels. It is believed that trade will improve slowly and moderately. Prices are unchanged. Business cannot be stimulated by concessions.

"I have never thought it worth while to encourage my girls in ordinary grades of fancy work," said the sensible mother of a large family, "and many is the wordy war that I have waged with my youngsters, to keep them from spoiling their eyes and waisting their time on what seems to me the merest rubbish. The claim that it teaches them to sew does not hold with me at all; they could learn to sew on something useful and really artristic. As a matter of fact, I think that the commoner grades of fancy needle work are a most decided injury to the girl to whom they are given. The little one wants to do something pretty, and bright colors attract her eyes; she makes pink dogs with red eyes and green ears may be, and thus gets her first impression of the grouping of colors. A good many years ago I got a very useful lesson in this sort of thing from a lady where I was visiting. I was a mere child, and in the society of her daughter, who was about the same age as myself. I passed some very pleasant weeks. When I first went there she gave us a large package of crewels with needles and canvas, and all necessary materials. She would not allow us a pattern of any sort or any guide to go by, except what we selected

"It was midsummer, and she sent us out to gather black-eyed susans and work them on our material. The results of our efforts would have been amusing to a trained eye, under her carefu! supervision actually developed an artistic taste that has always been to me a matter of congratulation. Instead of using up the odds and ends of wools to work out whatever atrocious design we chose, we were instructed to make the backgrounds with green and shades of green and brown, to plant our susans and daisies in the most natural way, and to shade and group as nearly in accord with nature as the best materials would allow. She used to take us out on the lawn and make holes in the ground and stick the stems of the flowers in them. Then we studied the way they grew, the form of the blossoms, the leaf, the stalk and the way they were joined. I had before that time wrought many abominations in color, but after that summer the work that I had previously done so grated on my sense of the artistic that I gave away and burned up what I could not pull out and utilize in some other shape. It is as easy to teach children to do things correctly as to let them go blundering along and acquire tastes and methods that will handicap them all their life."

Profit in White Field Beans.

W. J. Thomas, in American Agriculturist. What to raise in the place of wheat which has not been a paying crop for several years, is a question which is agitating many farmers. I believe that, for some districts, beans come pearer to filling the place of wheat than any other crop. Like wheat there is always a ready sale for it, it has fewer enemies, can be kept over with much less shrinkage, as rats and mice do not trouble it, and commands from two to three times the price of wheat, while the vines and pods are fully equal to hay for feeding purposes. A poor soil may raise a fair crop of beans, or a fair crop may be raised with but little work. On the other hand, no crop will better respond to good treatment than will beans, and the better the soil the better will be the beans. Land that will, in a good season, raise ten bushels of wheat per acre, will raise ten of beans, and land that grows twenty of wheat will yield as many of beans. Formerly the crop required a good dealof labor, for it was all done by hand, yet hen it was a paying crop; now that we have improved machinery for planting and harvesting, the profits are doubled. One can ride nearly across the State of Michigan and see on almost ever farm from ten to forty acres of beans. Here we use a combined harvester and planter, with which one man and team can plant from ten to fifteen acres a day, and pull them in the same time. They can also be cultivated with a riding oulti vator, which makes beans the cheapest cultivated crop grown, so far as labor and expense are concerned. We aim to plant in early summer, taking care to have our ground well prepared. With the planter we can plant the rows thirty, thirty-two or thirty-four mehes apart, and from twelve to thirty inches apart in the row, planting in hills of from three to ten beans ments, 450. The market was slow. Prime in a hill. With a riding two-horse cultiand by Sept. I pull with the puller, which, when properly handled, will not shell a peck of beans on ten acres, no matter how ripe they may be. This allows plenty of time to follow with wheat, if wanted, to seed down, or with rye to pasture or plow under. The bean crop here is threshed entirely by machinery, and is destined soon to become the leading crop in Michigan. Save all the paper bags. They are most convenient to draw over cans of truit to shut out the light. The hand can also be slipped into one when cleaning the stove, as well as in uoing much other household work which is hard on the hands.

DAILY.

SUNDAY

The Journal's price for daily is only 15 cents a week, and it has a very wide circulation, reaching a large number of people hitherto unable to afford the luxury of a first-class daily paper. Reports from agents and subscribers indicate a continued increase, and that what used to be regarded as a luxury has become a necessity. The new readers not only remain, but they are constantly increasing.

It is the purpose of the Journal to make itself even more indispensable to its patrons, new and old, and to still further widen its field. To this end it will not only endeavor to maintain the characteristics which have established its reputation as by far the best newspaper in Indiana, but will add such new features and improvements from time to time as are in accord with journalistic progress and that may tend to the advantage of its readers. It will, for example, give increased attention to State and local interests. What Indianians want is a paper in which Indiana affairs are given especial prominence and importance. This want the Journal has always supplied as no other paper pubished outside or inside the State is able to do; but the rapidly developing industries and business and social enterprises of the community call for additional consideration and space, With this in view its corps of correspondents has been increased until it has a representative in nearly every town in the State Special traveling correspondents will visit the news centers of the State at frequent intervals, thus insuring the "write up" of every important event or matter of general interest.

Being published in the geographical center of Indiana the Journal is afforded unusual facilities for securing news promptly, and, what is of greater consequence, is able to reach its subscribers without delay. The running of morning trains from Indianapolis is very favorable to the early distribution of papers sent by mail or express, and in most towns within a radius of a hundred miles Journals are delivered as early as in the city where they are printed. In the more remote counties there is but little loss of time in transportation.

The Journal is the paper for Indianians and particularly for Indiana Republicans. The change of administration involves the settlement of political problems likely to be of the most direct personal concern to every farmer and business man in the State. All such matters will be set forth in detail, the Journal's Washington correspondent being instructed to give especial attention to every hing having a possible bearing on Indiana interests.

But though the Journal is Republican in politics it is non-partisan in the publication of news. Its constantendeavor is to secure facts unbiased by prejudice and to make its columns trustworthy records of each day's happenings. A large editorial force supplements the work of the press associations and the correspondents, and furnishes careful supervision for each department.

The Sunday Journal has a well-established literary character, superior to that of any Western paper. It is not defaced by "plate matter" nor filled with a heterogeneous mass of syndicate literature, but its contributions and miscellany are chosen with a view to their special fitness and adaptability to the tastes of the readers. The reading matter in any given number of the Sunday Journal is equal in quantity and is not inferior in quality to that found in the leading magazines. As an educational adjunct and a source of entertainment the Sunday Journal is indispensable in every well-regulated family. The Weekly Journal, at $1 per year, contains more reading matter than can be obtained for the money in any other shape. It is carefully edited and offers the news of the week in condensed shape and a variety of miscellany. agricultural and household literature that render it one of the best investments that any family can make.
